Jeffrey,

Every once in a while, we have a speaker who creates this incredible buzz throughout the building within minutes of the program ending. That's what happened yesterday. In case you don't know, 75-100 17-18 year olds do not normally sit absolutely quietly listening to someone talk for close to an hour. You opened their minds, stimulated their intellectual curiosity, compelled them to think about the meaning of justice and made it absolutely clear that simply because we have a judicial system that we think is fair does not mean that it is. You gave them a shocking dose of reality that many of them will not forget. The experience you provided at this critical stage in their lives may be just the spark a few of them need to make significant decisions about their life paths. What happened yesterday was pure, meaningful, accessible education.....

Thank you, Jeffrey. I will keep in touch.
